

Shifting Worlds: Engagement with Refugee and Immigrant Communities During A Pandemic

This symposium seeks to explore the ways in which institutions of higher education, in their service-learning and community engaged teaching and scholarship, have responded to the challenges facing their local refugee and immigrant communities during recent years.

Keynote Speaker
Dr. Cristina
Santamaría Graff,
Associate Professor of
Special Education,
Urban Teacher
Education. IUPUI.

Friday,
November 5th
virtual on Zoom

Saturday, November 6th
in person at Guilford College in the Gilmer Room

Closing Speaker
Dr. Aurora Santiago-Ortiz
Postdoctoral Fellow,
University of Kentucky

Registration
Proposal
Submission

Co-Sponsors: UNCG Center for New North Carolinians, UNCG Institute for Community and Economic Engagement, UNCG Office of Leadership and Civic Engagement, UNCG Lloyd International Honors College, UNCG Office of Student Success, UNCG Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, UNCG Coalition for Diversity in Language and Culture, Kohler Award: UNCG Office of International Programs, Duke Service Learning, Association for Immigration and Refugee Service Professionals, Justice and Policy Studies Department at Guilford College, and the Center for Principled Problem Solving and Excellence in Teaching at Guilford College.